Hearn Construction Begins Its Seventh Hampton Inn & Suites Project

Hampton Inn & Suites

Ground in May

Hearn Construction, California's leading hotel builder, kicked off construction on its newest hotel project, a Hampton Inn & Suites in Riverside, CA. This is the seventh Hampton project Hearn has built, along with hotels for all of the other major hospitality brands and a number of custom, luxury boutique hotels. Peter Allen, Vice President of the Southern California Region for Hearn, says Hearn was selected specifically because of their experience. "The owner wanted someone who had built a Hampton Inn and Suites already, and we have experience across the board in building for all the brands." Peter is managing this project out of Hearn's Newport Beach office.

This project is a four story hotel with 131 rooms, pool, breakfast area, conference room, and exercise room. The 75,000 square foot facility was designed by Gene Fong Associates in Los Angeles, and is owned by Riverside Lodging Associates LLC. Mark Redmond heads up work on site as Superintendent, with Amy Gerrard as the Assistant Superintendent and Ginger Magaoay as the Project Administrator. The project is scheduled for completion in Spring 2010.
